Building Strong Families

The Blending of Families

3/29/17

Essentially every person who marries lives in a blended family. Though clearly, children from previous relationships add a different twist to how a family functions. The question that every family has to face is - how do we function spiritually, emotionally and relationally at our healthiest?

Questions:

Biblically speaking, no one is perfect, we're all messy. So, describe how you struggled and/or got past the messy to be where you are now?

What were you determined to not repeat as an adult that you experienced growing up? Have you been successful? Why or why not?

Look at Philippians 3:13-14 as a group. Have you been able to do this? How? If not, why not?

Because we live in a fallen world morally, and we've all sinned personally, how will you help your kids and or grandkids to get thru the messy/hurts to be healthy and purposeful spiritually?
